

Trinity Preparatory School is an independent, coeducational, college preparatory school serving more than 860 students in grades six through 12. We are affiliated with the Episcopal Church, and our 100-acre campus in Winter Park, Florida is surrounded by two beautiful lakes.

Our staff and faculty embody a tradition of high performance, growth, development, and professional demeanor. Salaries and benefits are competitive with top national peer schools. Class sizes are small, and our state-of-the-art facilities ignite learning and passion.

Trinity Preparatory School is seeking an enthusiastic recent college or university graduate interested in pursuing a career in education to participate in our Fellows Program. The individual will serve for 1-2 years in diverse, defined capacities such as supervised or stand-alone teaching, student advising, coaching and performing a number of traditional day-school responsibilities. Experienced teachers will mentor, support and provide guidance to the fellow. This position will teach in our computer science department.
